

Last week, CellSonic exhibited at the COPA show for physiotherapists in London.

We treated many visitors for a variety of problems including shoulder pain and toe nail infections.

A lecture on electro-hydraulic shockwave therapy was well attended and for most of the delegates this was the first time they realised what makes a real shockwave.

